A Message From President Hughes

The men's basketball program is integral to the University's athletic endeavors, just as the athletic program is integral to our view of education — which is that education should develop the whole person.

This program moved from NCAA Division II to Division I in 1979, and each year has seen increasing strength and competitive capabilities in the USD team. The University is proud of the team's accomplishments, and pleased to support the program in every way possible, including scholarship aid to our athletes, recognition of the values of the program, and promotion of intercollegiate athletics. I believe our USD team will be receiving some national attention this year, and I look forward to watching the season's events unfold.

TOM IANNAZONE

Director of Athletics

Tom Iannacone begins his third year as the University of San Diego director of athletics. He assumed the position September 1, 1988 after a nationwide search.

The 49-year-old Iannacone has made great strides in his first two years. His accomplishments at USD include an ongoing internal reorganization of the athletic department, plus improvements in the major areas of new personnel, additional scholarship assistance, facilities improvements, promotions and marketing, fund raising, drug education and academic support.

Iannacone came to the University of San Diego with an impressive list of credentials and a thorough knowledge of intercollegiate athletics. Prior to USD, he was Director of Athletics for four years at St. Francis College in Loretto, Pennsylvania.

Hard work, loyalty and dedication are just some of the words that easily describe Iannacone. His major contributions at St. Francis included the expansion of sports offerings and scholarships for both men and women, improved budgets, renovation of athletic facilities, the hiring of additional staff, and the establishment of a master plan for the future and continual development of athletics. He served on several ECAC Metro Conference committees, most notably the committee on conference development, which developed a plan for the future and implemented the position for a full-time commissioner.

Prior to his tenure at St. Francis, Iannacone served as assistant athletic director at Fordham University from 1977-84. Along with his administrative duties at Fordham, he was an assistant football coach for the Rams. From 1975-78, he acted as offensive coordinator and backfield coach as Fordham captured 19 victories in their final 24 games during this span. The 1977 squad was and remains the highest scoring team in Fordham history, averaging 34 points per game.

In 1983, Iannacone was presented the prestigious Jack Coffey Award by the Alumni Association for outstanding contributions to Fordham athletics. He has also served on various Metro Atlantic Conference committees.

Prior to Fordham, Iannacone taught physical education and coached track and football in the Ridgefield, Norwalk and New Milford (CT) school districts from 1964-76. He made his collegiate football coaching debut as an offensive backfield coach at Western Connecticut State University in 1974.

A 1964 graduate of the University of Connecticut, Iannacone received his master of science degree in physical education from Southern Connecticut State University in 1973.

Tom and his wife, Cynthia, have three children: Tom Jr. and Jennifer, both students at USD, and Eric, a Poway High School senior.

SAN DIEGO HEAD COACH HANK EGAN

Head Coach Hank Egan begins his seventh season with the USD Toreros and twentieth as a Division I head coach. This past season he successfully molded his squad into a 16-12 team that finished 3rd in the competitive West Coast Conference. He has tallied an impressive six-year record at San Diego of 94-75, as well as a 61-24 mark in the USD Sports Center. His .556 overall winning percentage at USD is tops among the nine different coaches that have been at the helm of the USD basketball program. Entering his twentieth year, Coach Egan takes a career mark of 242-260 into the 1990-91 campaign.

Sandwiched between this past season's mark of 16-12 and the 1986-87 squad that went 24-6 and won the WCC regular-season crown, the Toreros struggled with young teams that went 11-17 ('87-88) and 8-20 ('88-89). With twelve upper-classmen slated for this season's roster, it looks promising for the Toreros to field another competitive and successful team. At the NCAA's in 1986-87, the team suffered a tough 62-61 loss to Auburn University in the tournament's first round; however, the USD men's basketball team completed its most successful season ever. Along the way, USD won fourteen consecutive games, won the regular-season West Coast Conference championship with a 13-1 record and finished with a school record 24 victories. Coach Egan's peers from the WCC voted him the 1986-87 Coach of the Year. In 1985-86, he guided the Toreros to a fine record of 19-9 and was named Co-Coach of the Year in the WCC, sharing the honor with UCLA's Jim Harrick (formerly head coach at Pepperdine).

A recognized expert in the technical aspects of the game, Hank has an impeccable reputation for integrity, and is a coach who "gets the most" out of his players. Acknowledged as one of the finest defensive coaches in the nation, good defense is a trademark with Egan-coached teams. His 1986-87 team finished #1 in the nation in field goal percentage defense (40.1%) and in the top-ten in scoring defense (60.3). His 1985-86 team finished 8th in the nation in FG% defense, limiting opponents to 42.4% shooting.

Prior to USD, Hank coached at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs for eighteen years, thirteen as the head coach. Highlights of his coaching career include his 1986-87 club that finished 24-6 and participated in the NCAA Tournament, his 1985-86 team that finished 19-9, and his 16-9 Air Force club from 1976.

As evidence of the high regard in which he is held by his colleagues and basketball people in general, Hank was the alternate coach to George Raveling (USC) for the 1984 United States Olympic Basketball team; he was a coach in the Olympic tryouts in Bloomington, Indiana, and also scouted South American Olympic teams in San Paulo, Brazil; he is a member of the Legislative Commission of the National Basketball Coaches Association of America; and, was one of the only ten coaches chosen in 1984 by the NCAA to participate and represent the country's coaches in a special meeting of Presidents, Athletic Directors, and Faculty Representatives called to study the strengthening of academic requirements for intercollegiate athletics.

Before becoming the second head coach in Air Force basketball history, Egan was the freshman mentor for two seasons and was chief scout and recruiter during the 1970-71 season. From 1966 to 1968, he was an assistant junior varsity coach.

A three-time basketball letterman at Navy, he also played several seasons on Air Force service teams and has coached on both the military and AAU levels. Hank graduated from the Naval Academy in 1960 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering.

His hobbies include golf, racquetball, reading and crossword puzzles. Hank and his wife Judy have two children, John and Kelly.

TODD WALLACE

RANDY BENNETT

Randy Bennett begins his third year at the University of San Diego as a full-time assistant to coach Hank Egan.

His primary responsibilities will be in the areas of recruiting, scouting and on-court coaching.

Prior to his 1988 appointment at the University of San Diego, Randy coached two seasons (1986-88) with the University of Idaho as a part-time assistant. Their 1987-88 team finished 19-11 and second in the Big Sky Conference. Before his stint with Idaho, he was a volunteer assistant at USD (1985-86) while finishing his undergraduate degree at the University of California, San Diego. The past four summers he has directed Hank Egan's Boys Basketball Camps.

A 1986 graduate of UC San Diego, Randy received his B.S. degree in Animal Physiology. He played two years of basketball at UC San Diego (1983-85) and two years at Mesa Community College (1980-82) in Mesa, AZ under his dad, Tom Bennett. In his two years at Mesa, the team went 56-10 and made it to the nationals his freshman year.

Randy, currently working on his M.A. in Education, is single and resides in San Diego.

TODD LEE

Todd Lee begins his second year as full-time assistant coach to Hank Egan.

His primary duties will include recruiting, scouting and on-court coaching.

The 26-year-old Lee is a 1986 graduate of the University of South Dakota where he completed his Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. He is currently working on his Master of Science degree in Physical Education with emphasis on coaching and teaching.

This past summer Todd organized and co-directed the First Annual USD High School Team Camp. He has assisted with the Boys Basketball Camps at USD the past two summers.

Prior to assisting the University of San Diego staff, Todd was an assistant basketball coach at Southwestern Junior College in Chula Vista, California, for two seasons (1987-88, 1988-89).

Todd is single and resides in the Pacific Beach area of San Diego.

GUS MAGEE

Gus enters his 21st season as a member of the University of San Diego coaching staff. He began his coaching career in 1970 as a graduate assistant to Bernie Bickerstaff while pursuing his Master's Degree in Social Science. He joined former USD coach Jim Brovelli in 1973.

Gus also completed his undergraduate degree at the University of San Diego and was a top basketball player here after completing his tour of duty with the U.S. Air Force. Gus played here from 1966-70, his first three years under legendary coach Phil Woolpert, and his final campaign with Bernie Bickerstaff. With him at center the Toreros had a 53-48 record. He was twice selected the team's most valuable player, in 1968-69 and again in 1969-70. He still holds most of the USD rebounding records including career boards (948), most in a single game (24), and the single season rebounding average (14.4).

Gus was the first USD alumnus to be inducted into the USD Basketball Hall of Fame. He takes great pride in being involved with USD basketball since 1966 and in helping it to grow from a small college program to its current status as a member of the NCAA Division One ranks and the West Coast Conference.

He is currently an Administrative Analyst with the San Diego Public Library System. Gus and his wife Faye have one son, Mark.

JACK AVINA

A new addition to Hank Egan's coaching staff, Jack Avina brings a wealth of experience to USD.

At the helm of the University of Portland program for 17 years (1970-87), Jack will be on staff in a part-time capacity and will be involved exclusively with teaching situations and in direct contact with the players.

As head coach of the University of Portland of the West Coast Conference, Avina posted a 17-year mark of 222-243. He is currently the tenth winningest coach in WCC history. In his last 10 seasons with the Pilots, Jack averaged 15 wins per season. His 1977-78 squad may have been his best, finishing 19-8 overall and 9-5 in the league, earning Avina WCC Coach of the Year honors.

He started at the University of Portland after coaching at three different high schools and at San Mateo JC in California. His JC teams had a combined 140-80 record.

Between 1987-89 he was head coach of a professional team in Turkey. During the summer of 1984, he worked with Coach Egan at the Olympic Tryouts in Bloomington, Indiana.

Jack and his wife Claire have six children and make their home in Portland, Oregon.

1990-1991 TORERO OUTLOOK

Recent history indicates that the team with the most experience normally wins the West Coast Conference men's basketball title.

Look at Loyola Marymount last season, St. Mary's in '88-89, LMU in '87-88 and USD in '86-87. All were veteran-rich teams and all went on to dominate the conference.

Guess What?

The Toreros of 1990-91 are by far the most experienced club in the WCC.

Consider:

There are only 19 seniors in the entire conference, and 6 of them are Toreros. The next closest—Portland and USF—have just 4 seniors each. St. Mary's and Santa Clara do not have any. Pepperdine has 1 and Gonzaga and LMU 2 each.

Of the juniors, Santa Clara leads with 7, followed by USD and St. Mary's with 6 each. LMU, Pepperdine and Gonzaga have 5 each, USF 4 and Portland 2.

In case you weren't keeping track, that's 12 upperclassmen for USD, or four more than USF, the second most experienced team.

That, in part, is why many feel USD is the team to beat in the WCC. But there is certainly much more to winning championships than having old players. It also takes talent. And USD has that, too.

Ten of those 12 upperclassmen return from a team that last season finished third in the WCC at 9-5. The overall record was 16-12, representing eight more victories than the 1988-89 team that finished 8-20, 2-12 in the conference. Eight of the 10 returning upperclassmen started games last season. Four averaged 8.3 ppg or better for the Toreros, who set a school record by averaging 79.1 ppg.

Add to that nucleus two junior transfers from Mesa CC (Ariz.), the No. 1-ranked team in the nation last season, and the Toreros appear even stronger.

"This year we're a little bit better because we're more experienced, and we have some depth," said Coach Hank Egan, who in his 20th season (7th at USD) is the second most experienced coach in the WCC behind Santa Clara's Carroll Williams (21st year).

Barring a complete collapse—unlikely with this bunch—Egan will record his 250th career win sometime this season. Egan enters the year with 242.

What's more, Egan has added long-time friend Jack Avina as a part-time assistant coach this season. Avina, who was the head coach at Portland for 17 years and is the 10th winningest coach in WCC history, joins part-time assistant Gus Magee (21 years) and full-time assistants Randy Bennett (four) and Todd Lee (two) on the Toreros' bench.

TODD WALLACE

Avina actually began helping out as a volunteer last season, and he was the one that convinced Egan to modify his approach after the team's 3-7 start.

Egan was naturally upset with the poor beginning. He felt the team was better, but couldn't figure out why it wasn't winning. The low-point came after consecutive home losses to Eastern Washington (79-64) and Nevada-Reno (88-69). Then came December 25.

After a few days off, Egan assembled his troops for a meeting on Christmas night. He told them, as a present to them, he was going to ease off, quit pushing for answers and just let things happen as they happen.

It was a risky move and slightly out-of-character for Egan, and even the players expressed skepticism. But Egan held true to his word. He was verbally less demanding, appeared less tense and even acted jovial at times on the sidelines. Suddenly, the victories began piling up.

USD won its next three games and later seven in a row. It finished the regular season winning 12 of 17. Then came the WCC Tournament at LMU's Gersten Pavilion, a tournament few will ever forget.

USD had defeated USF (80-74) in a first-round game and was at the team's hotel preparing to face Pepperdine in a semifinal when LMU center Hank Gathers collapsed on the floor during the Lions' semifinal against Portland. He died of heart failure a few hours later at a nearby hospital.

The tournament was cancelled. USD, Pepperdine and Portland—all playing their best basketball of the year—suddenly found their seasons over, making them and Nevada Las Vegas (the NCAA champion) the only schools in the nation whose seasons ended with a tournament victory.

It was a tragic ending, but one USD players understood and soon realized to accept. For seniors Craig Cottrell and John Jerome, their careers had ended. "It was tough for us to swallow," Cottrell said. "But we understood."

USD will surely miss the scoring and leadership of Jerome and Cottrell. Without them, USD loses 28.5 points and 11.2 rebounds per game. Jerome, an All-WCC first team selection, set single season school records for points (540) and scoring average (19.3). Cottrell set a school record for career field goal percentage (.5803).

Attrition, though, doesn't concern Egan this year. Instead, he feels USD will be improved defensively.

"I always felt last year we had to outscore people, because we weren't going to stop anybody," Egan said.

This year should be different, Egan added. "Competition at some positions is pretty close. We're not going to have to live with people that don't play defense."

With experience and an improved defense, USD's biggest strength is probably its lack of weaknesses. But by the same token, its biggest weakness might be its lack of strengths.

USD is not terribly big, but it's not small either. It has some good shooters, but not an overabundance. What it has is a little bit of everything. Realizing what works and what does not will be important. Playing as a team, as it did in the second half of last season, is what will pull USD through the tough games.

"One of the things about having a veteran ball club is that the guys kind of know who's got what spot," Egan said. "Not that it's locked in, but they're comfortable with themselves and with one another and the system. And now they can go about their business of beating somebody, instead of worrying who's going to make the ball club or win a spot. Everybody knows their roles. Certain people should shoot the ball, and certain people should rebound, and certain people should pass. Knowing their roles, without having to get them established, should really help."

With that, here's a look at the players and the roles they should play in 1990-91. Since most of the Toreros are versatile athletes, Egan employs them in a number of positions. For the most part, they can be categorized as either perimeter or inside players.

PERIMETER PLAYERS

Point guard Wayman Strickland (6-2, jr.) and shooting guard Pat Holbert (6-3, sr.) give USD one of the best returning backcourts in the WCC.

Holbert, an All-WCC honorable mention and among the nation's best 3-point shooters with a .462 mark, was USD's second-leading scorer last season, averaging 12.3 ppg. He really turned things up, though, in the second half, averaging 17.0 points in conference play and matching a season-high with 27 points in the first game of the WCC Tournament. "His emergence last year is one of the main factors that turned this ballclub around," Egan said.

After sharing and struggling with the point guard role his freshman year, Strickland came into his own last year. His 169 assists were 100 more than his total the previous year and just two off the school record of 171 set by Stan Washington in 1972-73. Strickland, who started all but one game last year, was also second in the conference with 2.2 steals per game.

Another guy that added some spark in the second half was forward Anthony Thomas (6-4, sr.). Coming off the bench on most nights, Thomas averaged 6.9 points and provided good defense both inside and out on the perimeter.

Gylan Dottin (6-5, jr.), the Toreros' second-leading scorer two years ago, was in that same position last year before he broke his nose in practice after just three conference games. He sat out seven games mending but still averaged 8.6 points per game. Dottin is a versatile player capable of filling any one of the three perimeter spots.

Another versatile player is newcomer Michael Brown (6-3, jr.), one of five former Mesa Community College players at USD. Joe Temple (6-3, so.), Geoff Probst (5-11, so.), Neal Meyer (6-3, fr.) and Carlos Carrillo (6-6, jr.) give USD plenty of depth and experience.

And then there's Randy Thompson (6-7, sr.). Said Egan, "I don't know where Randy's going to play, but I know he's going to play, because he always does."

INSIDE PLAYERS

Returners Kelvin Woods (6-5, jr.) and Dondi Bell (6-9, sr.) figure to be the early-season starters inside, but Brooks Barnhard (6-8, so.) and first-year forward Reed Watson (6-8, jr.) should challenge for those spots. Keith Colvin (6-8, sr.) provides Egan with experience and annual surprises with his spirited play in big games. Shawn Hamilton (6-8, sr.) adds size and depth.

Woods was third in scoring (9.4 ppg) and rebounding (4.0) last season. He will be called on to pick up some of the inside scoring that Jerome did last year. "He's a really good inside scorer," Egan said. "He knows how to get the ball in the basket."

Bell, the WCC blocked shot leader two years ago, had a big second half last year and was instrumental in the team's turnaround. His biggest contribution should be rebounding, blocked shots and defense.

"We're not going to be super big, so we're going to have to work well together," added Egan. "We don't have that one monster in the middle. That's probably the area of concern. We're giving up in that area something offensively and defensively because we don't have that awesome power inside."

After a couple of tune-up exhibitions against Athletes in Action and an Australian team, USD begins for real Nov. 27th against cross-town rival San Diego State at the Sports Arena. The Toreros' home opener is Dec. 1st against San Jose State. A trip to the Indiana Tournament and UC Santa Barbara highlight 10 other dates before opening WCC play Jan. 5 at Santa Clara.

In all, there are 27 games—13 at the USD Sports Center—before the WCC Tournament at Santa Clara, March 2-4.

"I think it's a pretty good schedule," Egan said. "It's got enough good teams in it, and it will prepare us well for the conference."

"We got a chance to be pretty good," Egan added. "There's no guarantee on that happening, but we got a chance."

“AMERICA’S FINEST CITY”

San Diego is truly “America’s Finest City.” A modern metropolis (second largest in California) and a popular year-round resort, San Diego spreads from the coast to the desert, including cliffs, mesas, hills, canyons and valleys. San Diego also surrounds one of California’s greatest natural harbors which has been a dominant factor in determining the city’s history, economy and development.

As home of the largest naval air station on the west coast, the federal government ranks first in economic importance to the city with the aerospace equipment industry second. Tourism closely follows as third. Business and pleasure coexist in harmony in San Diego. The climate, attractive setting and recreational facilities make San Diego “America’s Finest City.”

According to Sports Illustrated, “For sheer numbers of participants, diversity of pursuits of involvement, San Diego must rank as the sports and fitness capital of the U.S.” Sports are a major feature of the San Diego lifestyle. One can sail, swim, surf, scuba dive, snorkel, wind-surf on 70 miles of public beach or golf at any of the over 70 golf courses throughout the county. Balboa Park, a 1,158-acre recreation and cultural center, offers 25 tennis courts, two gymnasiums, two municipal golf courses and one of the nation’s finest zoos. Mission Bay Park is a 4,600-acre playground for jogging, fishing, bicycling, tennis, golf and kite flying.

As well as participating in recreational activities, San Diego supports their professional teams—the Chargers in football, the Padres in baseball and the Sockers in soccer. Whatever sporting activity there is, it’s here in San Diego—the sports capital of the U.S.A.

UNIVERSITY PROFILE

The University of San Diego is an independent Catholic university located on a 170-acre mesa overlooking Mission Bay, San Diego Harbor, and the Pacific Ocean. The campus is named Alcala Park after the Spanish university town where St. Didacus (i.e., Diego) spent much of his time.

Complementing its splendid natural setting is the University's location just 10 minutes from downtown San Diego — conveniently close to the major business, cultural, residential, and recreational areas, as well as the rail, bus and air terminals.

Founded in 1949, USD is presently experiencing record attendance. Undergraduate enrollment stands at 3900, graduate students bring the overall campus enrollment to 5900.

The University includes a College of Arts and Sciences, and Schools of Business Administration, Education, Nursing, and Law. Each is characterized by high academic standards, small classes, and excellent student-faculty relations.

Though the majority of students come from the West Coast, every region of the United States is well-represented on campus. Students also attend USD from 24 foreign countries.

In January of 1987, USD opened the doors to its new University Center, a 74,500 square foot building for students, faculty and staff. The two-level Center is the largest building on campus. It is the seventh major project completed at USD during the past nine years. It's a place for people to meet for leisure and fun, a place for extracurricular activities.

Recreation, intramural and athletic activities are expanding rapidly. Among the many recreation and intramural programs offered, some of the favorites include: Mission Bay Aquatic Center activities (water skiing, surfing, sailing, crew), modern dance, aerobics, bowling, karate, backpacking, softball, tennis, floor hockey and volleyball.

USD intercollegiate sports for men include football, soccer, cross country, basketball, baseball, crew, tennis and golf. In women's intercollegiate sports, USD fields programs in volleyball, cross country, swimming, basketball, softball, crew and tennis.

THE 1989-90 USD SEASON—A LOOK BACK

After beginning the 1989-90 season 3-7 and finishing their preconference schedule at 5-7 through the month of December, the Toreros turned the tables in the new year as they finished 9-5 in WCC action for third place.

Going into the last weekend of WCC play, the Toreros found themselves just two games behind first place LMU and still with an outside shot at the title. Included in their 9-5 WCC mark was a 7-game winning streak, a 4-3 WCC road record and a sweep of the tough northwest trip over Gonzaga and Portland. San Diego finished with a record of 16-12 and ended the season with an 80-74 win over San Francisco in the first round of the 4th Annual WCC Tournament.

Contributing to their slow start were losses to such opponents as UC Santa Barbara, St. John's, South Alabama, UCLA and Nevada-Reno. Possibly their toughest nonconference schedule ever, their 12-game slate through November and December paid dividends for preparing the Toreros for the tough West Coast Conference action. Although they lost twice to #1 LMU and #2 Pepperdine, the Toreros only other WCC loss was a road defeat at the hands of San Francisco. USD's 9-5 third-place finish was the team's best showing since their 13-1 first-place finish in 1986-87.

Two major reasons for USD's resurgence last season was the play of newcomers John Jerome and Pat Holbert. Jerome, the 6-8 forward who transferred from Arizona State for his senior year with the Toreros, was the team's most consistent player. He paced the Toreros in scoring and rebounding with averages of 19.3 ppg and 8.0 rpg. John scored in double figures in 27 of the team's 28 games and set new USD single-season records for most points (540) and scoring average (19.3 ppg). John was a First Team All-WCC selection and the team's MVP.

Junior Pat Holbert really came to life in the second part of the season. The 6-3 transfer from Mesa Community College was inserted into the Toreros' starting lineup in game #16 and USD went on to win 10 of their final 13 games. Pat led the team in scoring in six of those games, including three 27-point outbursts in the team's final four games. He was the team's top 3-point threat as he finished with 54 treys for 46.2 percent from beyond the 19'9" arc. Pat was named Honorable Mention All-WCC.

In the 14 WCC contests, Jerome averaged 19.9 ppg followed by Holbert's 17.0 average.

Another key was the team settling on a starting lineup. Besides Jerome and Holbert, coach Hank Egan went with senior Craig Cottrell at forward, junior Dondi Bell at center and sophomore Wayman Strickland at point guard. Strickland finished with team highs in assists (169) and steals (60). Team depth also played a key role for the Toreros. Giving the team quality minutes off the bench included juniors Randy Thompson and Anthony Thomas, as well as sophomores Kelvin Woods and Gylan Dottin.

THE WEST COAST CONFERENCE

A YEAR TO REMEMBER, A YEAR TO FORGET

The 1989-90 season was the best and absolute worst of times in the West Coast Conference.

The season as a whole was one of the rougher ones since the conference formed 39 years ago. After having a league-best four teams win 20 games and go on to postseason play in 1988-89, three teams lost 20 in '89-90 and only one continued play in the tournaments. But what a "one" it was.

Loyola Marymount set a new NCAA scoring record with 122.4 points per game and roared to the championship game of the NCAA West Regionals. The Lions' roar through the NCAA field, while euphoric, came on the heels of the utmost tragedy in league and school history. On March 4, 1989, Hank Gathers, the team star and the all-time leading scorer in conference history, died of heart failure during the WCC tournament. The Lions gained the league's automatic bid based on their 13-1 record in WCC games and LMU found out its NCAA tournament first-round assignment while enroute to Philadelphia for the funeral. Using their all-out style and the support of an entire nation, the Lions dispatched New Mexico State (111-92), defending NCAA champ Michigan (149-115) and Alabama (62-60) before falling to eventual national champ UNLV.

THE MEMBERS—PRESENT AND PAST

The WCC is made up of eight private institutions spanning the three Pacific states from the borders of Canada to Mexico. The membership—Gonzaga University, Loyola Marymount University, Pepperdine University, the University of Portland, St. Mary's College, the University of San Diego, the University of San Francisco and Santa Clara University—has changed over the years, but the current alignment has remained intact for the longest stretch since its inception in 1952.

The league started up in '52 as the "California Basketball Association," an alliance of San Francisco Bay Area schools. Charter members St. Mary's, San Francisco and Santa Clara remain in the alignment, with original members Pacific and San Jose State having departed in the early 1970s. The conference expanded from five to eight schools in 1956 with the addition of current members Loyola Marymount and Pepperdine, along with Fresno State, which left the league in 1958. It was during that initial expansion that the conference was named the "West Coast Athletic Conference." The league shortened that to the current "WCC" in 1989.

Several other schools have owned membership in the WCC, including UC Santa Barbara (1965-69), Nevada-Las Vegas (1969-75), Nevada-Reno (1969-79), and Seattle (1971-80). Portland joined the conference in 1977, followed by San Diego and Gonzaga in 1980. All together, 15 different schools have competed in the WCC at some point.

TRADITION

The WCC has deep roots in the glory days of basketball and the league has owned an automatic bid to the NCAA tournament since its first year. Eight different members have won the title at least once with San Francisco leading the way with 15 league banners and a pair of back-to-back national championships in 1955 and 1956. Legendary names from the WCC's past include Bill Russell, K.C. Jones, Phil Smith, Dennis Johnson, Darwin Cook, Tom Meschery, Kurt Rambis, Bill Cartwright, John Stockton, and most recently, Bo Kimble and the late Hank Gathers. Former NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle once served as sports information director at USF.

PITCHES, DIAMONDS, COURTS AND COURSES

While basketball gets most of the attention, it's not the only WCC sport. In fact, the conference is gaining recognition as one of the top soccer leagues in the country. Santa Clara tied for the national championship in 1989 and started the 1990 season as the nation's top ranked team. Portland has been to two straight NCAA tournaments and has won or tied for both of the league's round-robin championships. Four different WCC members—Santa Clara, Portland, San Francisco and San Diego—appeared in last season's Top 20. USF has won the soccer national championship four times.

Baseball is also another power sport in the WCC and multiple entries into the NCAA tournament are becoming the rule. Pepperdine had won six straight league titles before Loyola Marymount ended the string last season. Countless players have gone on to professional baseball careers after playing collegiately in the WCC. The University of San Diego men's tennis team has captured the WCC crown the past two seasons after a long dominant run by Pepperdine.

This is the sixth season of WCC women's sports, and the fourth with conference membership mirroring the men's league. Gonzaga, Portland and St. Mary's upgraded their programs to the Division One level just three years ago. The Bulldogs won the women's basketball title in their first Division One season. St. Mary's won it in 1989 in their second, and repeated the feat in 1990. Portland has captured the cross-country crown in each of the last three years. Pepperdine is a perennial champion in volleyball and tennis, though the competition and quality of play in all four women's sports—basketball, cross country, tennis and volleyball—is improving annually.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Current WCC members have won 13 NCAA team championships, most recently the shared 1989 soccer crown by Santa Clara. USF has seven titles (four in soccer, two in basketball, one in tennis) followed by Pepperdine with three (all in volleyball) and Santa Clara (soccer) and Gonzaga (boxing) with one apiece.

Pepperdine has three individual tennis champions and Gonzaga has a trio of boxing winners. San Francisco has won individual championships in tennis and fencing while Loyola Marymount won an individual track title. San Diego picked up a pair of Division II team tennis crowns and Pepperdine won two track awards prior to joining the WCC. Portland captured its first national title in 1986, in NAIA cross country. St. Mary's also won the NAIA soccer championship that year.

The conference sponsors championships in cross country (men and women), baseball, basketball (men and women), golf (men), soccer (men), tennis (men and women) and volleyball (women).
